Category:Teaching English Category:Teaching English as a Second Language Category:Teaching English languageChandigarh —Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) chief Arvind Kejriwal on Wednesday launched a frontal attack on the Punjab government and Chief Minister Parkash Singh Badal and accused him of playing the victim card. The Punjab CM has been saying that this state and not the Centre is responsible for all the problems that the country is facing, said Kejriwal. Kejriwal said that the CM's attack on the central government was because of the former's 'failure' in implementing the Goods and Services Tax (GST). "Kejriwal lambasted the CM for using the 'victim card' and said that he is responsible for the state's problems," said Anuj Jha, AAP media in-charge. "When Kejriwal launched AAP in Punjab, Badal had to be present there, but ever since then, he has never had to be present there." "As CM Punjab, Badal is responsible for the state's problems. All the scams that are happening in the state are of his own making," said Kejriwal. He also said that the state was in the worst state and that the Punjab government has failed miserably in maintaining law and order in the state. "Every day, there is violence in the streets, due to which the state has been put in the state of emergency. The state needs to go for a state-wide shutdown in an emergency," said Kejriwal.## # This file is 2d92ce491b
