That way you are retaining the white background and you just need to put the ribbon into the frame. It might be easier to give an example of this. Firstly, create an empty frame to house the ribbon: Then draw the ribbon: At the top of your image place this: You can do that in an image editor or by using the InDesign / Photoshop Draw Tool (draw menu at top of screen) In my example I selected 100, 100, because that is the size of my ribbon, and simply dragged the little rectangle out from the button to where I wanted to draw the ribbon. Then I simply moved the rectangle up to create the gap and then drew the ribbon. Q: Where can I find a bank statement for the Czech Republic? I want to find out the information on the total number of registered deposits. Is it possible to find this information from the bank directly? A: All the banks in the Czech Republic, under the Czech law, are required to provide all records to the Základní banka (Central Bank) after the year of 2018. So, the bank is obliged to provide them directly to the bank (no other way). For a time period like a year, I don't think it's possible to find the information from the bank itself because of the banks are not required to make the information available for public. Even if the bank provides the information, it's only available to the person that has the password of the bank. Update: (from the chat) Willem, the situation is the following. There is a new law according to which all banks in the Czech Republic will be obliged to give to the central bank (Z.B.) for the period of one year after the year of 2018, all the records that the bank has on the following aspects
