I was desperate, horny, and without a real reason for being here. I searched for the lightswitch and shook it a little. The light blinked and I could now see a room. My heart sank when I saw a bound and gagged, beautiful woman lying on the bed. I was surprised that someone, a, had not noticed the change in the apartment, even though the light was on. My, and my girlfriend, we had always used the lightswitch to determine when to have sex, as we usually had no idea how to determine the time by the sun, we usually have sex during the day. "Who are you and what are you doing here", she said, as I got closer. I could not speak, I was terrified, but still desperate. I was, therefore, desperate, horny, and without a real reason for being here. I searched for the lightswitch and shook it a little. The light blinked and I could now see a room.
