A broadside "Bible Defense" lawyer was convicted of sexually assaulting a boy with cerebral palsy and sentenced to two consecutive life terms without parole in Martin County. Marion County Circuit Judge Mark D. Stoner ordered Fredrick A. Taylor Jr. to serve two consecutive life sentences in the Florida State Prison, St. Johns County News reported. That was a harsher sentence than the defense lawyer asked for in exchange for his client's guilty plea. The defendant maintained his innocence and asked for a jury trial, Stoner said. Stoner rejected the defense attorney's idea for a mutually acceptable plea. After the July 22, 2016, incident, the judge was outraged to find out that the defendant Taylor had admitted to authorities to committing various acts of child sexual abuse against the boy, now 23, since he was around 7, court records show. In the abuse, Taylor would expose himself to the boy, touch him, and rape him, according to the indictment. The defendant also attempted to enter the victim into a different state's sex offender registry, records show. In 2005, the boy was born prematurely and was a premature graduate of high school in 2007. The victim's mother told authorities in 2016 that Taylor had on previous occasions fondled the boy and exposed himself to him. The mother told deputies that the defendant had sexually abused the victim since he was around 7 years old, and that she was concerned about the welfare of the boy since she had not seen him in years. The victim also suffered from cerebral palsy. The victim and his mother went to police and Taylor was arrested in 2017 on an arrest warrant. The bail was set at $1 million. In 2018, Taylor pleaded guilty to sexual activity with a person under the age of 16 and in addition to life terms asked for a minimum of 20 years in prison. The defendant told authorities he "loves children" and was sorry that he had hurt the victim. The judge was incensed to learn that the defendant had admitted to authorities that he had committed various acts of sexual abuse against the boy since he was around 7, according to court records. "Did you tell the Deputy [Taylor] that you did that?" Stoner asked the defendant's lawyer. "I told him that that's what happened," the lawyer replied. "Tell him that again," the judge insisted. "

Dichlorvos Toxicity: Industrial and Agricultural Exposure in Adults and Pregnant Women. Occupational and environmental exposures are the main sources of didechlorvos exposure. The objective of this study was to evaluate occupational and environmental exposure to didechlorvos in a group of adults. This was a cross-sectional study of occupational and environmental exposure to didechlorvos, estimated by urinary levels of dichlorvos, in 12 people (6 men and 6 women). In addition, pregnant women (N = 5) were measured to evaluate their possible didechlorvos urinary levels during the third trimester of their pregnancy. Mean (SD) urinary levels of dichlorvos were 2.21 (0.94) mg/L (range: 1.51-3.51 mg/L) in adults and 0.42 (0.21) mg/L (range: 0.11-0.90 mg/L) in pregnant women. Urine dichlorvos levels were related to exposure time, dichlorvos use, and occupational exposure (P On the anticancer effects of catecholamine-type norepinephrine in PC-3 human prostate cancer cells. Prostate cancer is the most prevalent cancer among men. However, the mechanism of androgen-independent prostate cancer is not yet fully understood. The present study investigated the anticancer effects of catecholamine-type norepinephrine (NET) in the androgen-independent human prostate cancer cell line PC-3. To simulate the physiological conditions of tumor, we used a gas well (systemic) culture method. PC-3 cells were cultured in 12-well plates and treated for 48h with NET at concentrations of 10(-5)-10(-10) M. The cell viability was determined by MTT assay. The protein levels of
